David Turnbull

David is an established hospitality, travel and technology leader, supporting a variety of B2B media and technology companies in a partner, advisory & board capacity following his exit from SnapShot, in Summer 2018.

Championing progressive approaches to hotel revenue management, distribution and data management for more than 20 years, David has contributed to develop from grassroots some of the most forward thinking hotels and hotel companies, including designhotels, citizenM and 25hours to name a few.

techtalk.travel has been created to nurture the growing demand for travel technology by providing a transparent and neutral platform that connects through inspiring content and debate, hoteliers, technology providers and developers.
