

Nils Müller

Nils Müller is the CEO of TRENDONE, which he founded in 2002 and has managed ever since. As the market leader for trend research & innovation consulting in German-speaking countries, TRENDONE defines today's standards for targeted future orientation in a rapidly developing world, with a view on markets, industries and societies. With the help of the globally active network "LaFutura", Nils Müller brings together leading futurists and visionaries at an international level. Nils sets enthralling standards for multimedia-based journeys into the future with active audience participation with his "Journey into the Future" and the brand-new "Creators Keynote".
