

Manuel Hilty

Manuel Hilty is the co-founder of Nezasa. He started his career at the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology (ETH), where he graduated with a PhD. After a career in software engineering working for high-volume finance platforms and after founding a Zurich-based boutique consultancy, he got interested in travel tech and set out to tackle some of the space's biggest personalisation challenges.

Nezasa provides the technology to make the connected trip a reality. Its state of the art hyper-personalisation software is spearheading trip planning technology to guarantee its transition from static to live itineraries. It covers all aspects of the travel lifecycle - from booking over in-destination experiences until the completion of the trip.
